[illegible] A. M. President [illegible] moved from the Executive Mansion [illegible] depot.

Removal to the Depot.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The president was removed from the executive mansion at an early hour this morning to a special train at the depot, which was to convey him to Long Branch. The removal was successfully performed without any mishap or noteworthy incident. The entire route was kept clear of vehicles by policemen stationed at every intersecting street. A number of people remained all night at the outside gates in front of the mansion, and by the time the conveyance containing the president passed through the gates, about one hundred and fifty persons had assembled to witness the departure and obtain a glimpse of the president. When the president and party reached the depot, perhaps two thousand persons had gathered there. The crowd was very quiet and orderly, and the transfer of the president from the conveyance in which he rode to the car was watched in silence and with apparent solicitude lest some accident might occur.

The Start.

The party on board were Mrs. Garfield and daughter Mollie, Bliss, Agnew, Barnes, Boynton, Woodward and Reyburn, Col. and Mrs. Rockwell and daughter Lulu; Gen. Swaim, Col. Corbin, Secretary Brown, Dr. Edson, Rockwell, Warren S. Young and servants. The president at the depot appeared greatly emaciated. His face was careworn but natural. Gen. Swaim said he had not been the least disquieted, but enjoyed the ride. He was taken from his room to an express wagon which was backed up to the front portico. Bliss, Boynton, Reyburn, Swaim, Rockwell and Corbin carried him. C. B. Rockwell and Warren Young remained with the patient during the removal to the depot. The president reclined easily on his bed where he has been so many days fighting for life. His right hand lay on his breast and his left was stretched at full length upon the coverlet. His forehead was covered by a linen cloth and there was a patient, resigned expression of countenance. He was carefully and tenderly deposited in the wagon. At 5:50 the horses were started for the depot. The remainder of the party preceded the conveyance to the depot. The president cheerily but feebly lifted his left hand and waved a farewell as the carriage moved from the mansion, whose inmates were on the porch to wish him God speed. The wagon was driven slowly, never faster than a walk. A man walked at the head of each horse for safety. No incident occurred. At the depot the team was unhitched and the wagon backed up to the president's car and he was moved as before, not so easily but successfully, without appearing to disturb the president. Inside the car he was transferred from his bed to the spring bed, the rest of the party being in seats. At 6:30 the train moved out. General Superintendent Kinney of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore division was on the president's train. He says it is true that the pulse fell ten beats before reaching Baltimore. The president seemed cheerful and when asked if he would like to travel faster replied "yes." He rather liked it. Kinney says he seemed to be in very good spirits and was not under the effects of any opiates. He was rational as could be and occasionally chatted with the doctors. Kinney was surprised to see the number of people who turned out, particularly in country places, to witness the passage of the train. Even at prominent stations where there were crowds, the people raised their hats with reverence, and all seemed affected by the gravity of the situation.

The Journey.

The train was furnished with the most skillful men on the line. The extract was administered at 12:03 A. M. A stop of four minutes occurred at Magnolia for fuel, the only time coal was taken in on the trip. At 10:30 a stop of five minutes was made at Gray's Ferry for water. Between Philadelphia and Monmouth Junction the special train made several miles at the rate of seventy miles per hour. Bay View was reached at 12:35, and a brief stop was made to enable the surgeons to examine and dress the wound. It was found to have suffered no derangement by travel. Dressing was soon accomplished, and the train after leaving Bay View was run at the rate of fifty miles an hour. The track in this locality is very straight and in excellent condition, and though the speed at times was greater than fifty miles per hour, vibrations of the president's bed was no more than it would have been had the train been moving at 20 miles an hour. The attending surgeons feel very much gratified with the manner in which the removal was conducted, and are generally of the opinion that, with the exception of being slightly fatigued, the president bore the journey exceedingly well. The practice of issuing bulletins three times a day will be continued. There will be no distribution of bulletins except at Private Secretary Brown's office, where any one who calls will be served with copies.

Want Speed Increased.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 6, 7:35 A. M.—The train bearing the president passed Bowie, seventeen miles this side of Washington, at 7:10 Philadelphia time. The following dispatch was thrown off: "The president is so far doing so well that the surgeons would like to increase the speed where it can safely and comfortably be done."

No Jar to the Bed.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 6.—The train with the president passed Union depot in this city at 8:03 A. M. The president has stood the fatigue of travel up to this hour with remarkable fortitude. His pulse is less frequent than it was before leaving Washington. It is now 108. The arrangements are so complete in every detail that the inconvenience to the president is reduced almost to a minimum. The bed upon which he is now lying is so carefully adjusted that the vibration is scarcely noticeable. The train ran from Washington to Baltimore at an average of 30 miles an hour. It is found that this rate of speed causes less vibration than if it was reduced to half that speed. At 7 o'clock the president took 3 ounces of beef tea with relish.

Doing Well.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 6.—The following were thrown off:

To Dr. Baxter:—The pulse on leaving was 114; now 108. He has slept and is doing splendidly.

BOYNTON.

All goes well.

To MacVeagh:—All goes well. At this rate will reach Elberon between 1 and 2. Pulse 105.

A Mile a Minute.

LAMOKIN, Pa., Sept. 6.—The president's train ran from Wilmington here, 14 miles, in 14 minutes; stood in seven minutes; left at 10:21.

At Wilmington

WILMINGTON, Sept. 6.—The party passed at 9:47. One thousand five hundred people were at the depot. The pulse is said to be a little higher.

At Chester.

CHESTER, Pa., Sept. 6.—The train passed at 25 miles an hour. The president's car was closed tightly. No bulletin was thrown out.

Little Fatigue.

CHESTER, Pa., Sept. 6.—While the locomotive of the president's train was receiving coal at Lamokin, Agnew told Dr. Milner, of this city, that the president had improved since he left Washington and was getting along very comfortably. They were glad to get out of Washington for the heat was oppressive. Doctors on the train were pleased with the progress the train was making. The car was quite free from [illegible], and they had high hopes of reaching Long Branch with no bad results. The president had suffered very little fatigue. Agnew seemed in excellent spirits.

At West Philadelphia.

WEST PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6.—The train left West Philadelphia at 10:52 and Holmesburg Junction at 11:21.

At Philadelphia—Pulse Getting Lower.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6.—Dr. Boynton said here that the removal of the president promises to be a perfect success. He is confident that the patient will be in a better condition when he reaches Elberon than when he started. The pulse on leaving Washington was 114, at Philadelphia 106. The train passed the Trenton depot at 11:53.

Fifty Miles an Hour.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6.—The president continues to do well. A brief stop was made at Bay View and the wound successfully dressed. The speed then made was 50 miles an hour. No discomfort was felt by the president. Vibration of the bed was no greater than at a lower rate of speed.

The President Pleased.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6.—The train ran over the P. & R. division of the road 49 miles an hour. When the president was informed that more than half the journey was completed he was greatly pleased and said that this was decidedly the most interesting [illegible] of any since he was shot.

Prayers of the Nation.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—Reports coming in from all over the country show that prayers are being offered in all large cities to-day for the recovery of the president, and villages and hamlets are joining in the invocation. Business, if not entirely suspended, seems to have been dropped for the time.

In Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—Rev. F. A. Noble having offered to various churches on the west side the use of his church, the Union Park Congregational, for the services of prayer for the president, all west side pastors united in acceptance of the invitation and services were held from 10 to 12 to-day, in the large and beautiful edifice. On the north and south sides various churches gave notice of meetings for prayer and there was a general observance of the day as one of supplication for divine blessing upon the president and for his restoration to health. Business is largely suspended. The postoffice, custom house, board of trade and many business houses closing for the whole or half holiday.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—The board of trade adjourned to-day to observe the day of prayer for the president's recovery.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 6.—The chamber of commerce adjourned to-day.

Thursday for Prayers.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—The governor of New Jersey has appointed Thursday for prayer for the president.

Gov. Long of Massachusetts also named Thursday the 8th inst.

Concerning Arthur.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The Tribune says the friends of Gen. Arthur say that it is not unlikely he will go to Washington within a day or two. The opinion seems to be gaining ground among them that he will be called on very soon to assume the duties of president while Garfield is absent from the seat of government.

Broil and Season to Suit Taste.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, Sept. 6.—To-day, Major W. B. Vaughan, of this city, sent by express to Mrs. Garfield for the president a large box well filled with native prairie chickens, in hope that the rare gift will tempt the president's palate.

CANADA.

Destructive Fires in Ontario.

TORONTO, Sept. 6.—To-day is the hottest September day since 1851. Bush fires are doing immense damage. Twenty-seven barns have burned in the neighborhood of [illegible]. Trains going south on the Wellington, Grey and Bruce railway are said to be prevented from going further than Palmerston, owing to the railway ties being burnt away in several places. In Upper Grove district, twenty-seven families were burned out. The village of [illegible] is reported burned. In Hillsdale, the Wesleyan parsonage has been destroyed. The fire crossed the road to the north of the village, and the wind is subsiding. It is rumored that the village of [illegible] is burned.

MEXICO.

Bad Burglars.

CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 6.—At Toluca on Sunday night five discharged employes of the National railroad broke into the room of Engineer A. [illegible] Herbert, robbed his trunk, bruised him somewhat, and desperately wounded a servant who interfered.

THE CENSUS FOREST INQUIRY.

Interesting Statements Concerning the Investigations of the Tree Experts, and the Results Attained.

It will be remembered that the census forestry commission passed through Oregon and Washington a year ago. The Rural New Yorker has published some information as to the results of the inquiry on this coast, which we reproduce as follows:

As one of the special investigations undertaken by the United States government in connection with the tenth census of the United States, a thorough study into the forest area and forest wealth of the country, and of the economic importance of the American forests in relation to agriculture, commerce, the railroads, etc., was determined on. Prof. Sargent, director of the Arboretum of Harvard College, was placed at the head of this department. He organized his investigation by dividing the country into several sections, placing at the head of each a competent observer whose duty it was to examine and report on the extent and nature of forests in his section, the development of the lumbering industry, and the other industries dependent on the forest. The forests of the Pacific coast being least known, both in their economic importance and the distribution and specific characters of the trees comprising them, Prof. Sargent reserved this for his individual investigation. Accompanied by Mr. Robert Douglas of Illinois, the well-known grower of trees, and Mr. Skinner, his private secretary, he left Boston in June, 1880, passed some time in eastern Kansas studying the western limit of the Atlantic forest, and then devoted some weeks to a hurried examination of the forest of central Colorado. Then the Professor and Mr. Skinner went by rail to California, being joined en route by their associates, Dr. George Engelmann, the distinguished botanist of St. Louis, and Dr. C. C. Parry, who for more than thirty years has explored the botany of western and especially southwestern North America. From San Francisco the party went by sea to Portland, Oregon, and then through Puget sound to Vancouver island, and up the Fraser river in British Columbia to above Yale. In descending the river they ascended a high peak south of it near the town of Hope, a Hudson bay station. Here much was learned in regard to the northern distribution of the coniferous species of the Pacific forests, and there the party were fortunate enough to rediscover the Abies amabilis, a species discovered by Douglas more than 50 years before in Oregon, and about which great confusion and doubt have always existed in the minds of botanists. The rediscovery of this truly magnificent species, the most beautiful representative of the genus in North America, and the determination of its range and specific character may be considered, perhaps, among the most important of the scientific results of the expedition. The party then returned to Portland, stopping at various points to study the forests in their different aspects.

They then, Dr. Parry having left them to explore the botany of Mt. Adams, ascended the Columbia river to The Dalles on the eastern edge of the Pacific coast forest, and in returning, Prof. Sargent made the ascent of the high mountains south of the cascades of the Columbia river, and succeeded in reaching the very spot where, fifty years earlier, Douglas discovered his Abies amabilis and Abies nobilis, a spot which no botanist since Douglas had visited until August 4, 1880, when Prof. Sargent made the ascent.

From Portland the party went overland to southwestern Oregon and explored the magnificent forests of Lawson's cypress, which abounds in the neighborhood of Coos bay and Port Orford. Then crossing the coast range they proceeded south to Mt. Shasta region, in northern California, where several weeks were passed in exploring the forests of northern California. Thence they returned to San Francisco and then went south to the forest of the "Great Trees" (Sequoia), in Tulare county and then to Los Angeles and to the San Bernardino mountains. Then by rail eastward through Arizona to Tucson, the then eastern terminus of the railroad. From this point they went south by wagon to near the Mexican boundary into the high Santa Rita mountains, where many interesting discoveries were made and many trees peculiar to the Mexican flora were collected. From this point the party returned to San Francisco, and then after a short stay in the Sierras, near the crossing of the railroad, Prof. Sargent returned home after an absence of over four months, during which nearly [illegible] miles had been traversed.

The expedition was thoroughly successful, and resulted in the most complete [illegible] survey of the Pacific forest which had ever been made, and which extended from the north of the British boundary to the Mexican boundary [illegible]

Two companies went to Thomas to-day. Artillery and infantry are expected here to-day and will immediately go to the front. All sorts of rumors are afloat and it is hard to tell what is true.

Official Report.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The following was received at division headquarters at Presidio:

WHIPPLE BARRACKS, PRESCOTT, Sept. 4.

[illegible] I think a great many of the Indians in the fight have got frightened at what they did and have started for the agency, and to avoid consequences. I have armed all citizens here at the post. All available soldiers are here. I expect scouts from New Mexico here to-night, on their way to be discharged. A troop arrived at the agency at 6 this evening. We are able to take care of it. Rafferty's company will be here to-morrow. When Tupper's arrives and McLellan's, they will form a battalion and proceed with them to Apache. I will then leave Stacey's company here. He will be able, I think, to clear things up.

BENJAMIN, A. A. G.

Report from Tiffany.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The following is from Tiffany: One of Sam's band came in from Cibicu and says the White Mountain Indians tried to get some San Carlos and Chiricahuas to join them. They refused, and are coming into the agency. The Cibicu and White Mountain Indians who fought Carr are very near the junction of White and Black rivers. They send word to this Sanga Indian that they were not going out, but going to stay where they were, if the soldiers wanted them to try to take them. It is reported to me that some of Pedro's band of White Mountains are down on Ash creek. If so, they are probably watching movements of troops towards Apache, either to convey news to Indians there or ambush or attack the troops. Lieut. Gibes and a company of thirty-three men arrived here this evening, and I can take care of this agency with them and what men I have. We had an alarm this evening which proved a false one, but while out with Indian scouts I found San Carlos Indians south, ready to defend the agency, and a whole band of Yumas and Navajos come up for the same purpose. I believe if the troops now here are allowed to stay, and I get the guns which I have with ammunition, I can stand off all the hostiles that want to come. I say this so as not to embarrass you in moving troops to any point you may desire.

TIFFANY, Agent.

A Desperate Crowd.

OMAHA, Sept. 6.—Gen. Crook, commanding the department of the Platte, was in command of the Arizona department from 1871 to 1875 and during that time he conquered the Apaches. He says there were twenty or more bands of Apaches, [illegible] who reported as having led the party who massacred [illegible]. [illegible] and his men was there. The Apaches number 4,000, and about 1,000 were hostile and lived in the White mountain country. They were very desperate and fought with great bravery and skill. The country in which they live is almost inaccessible. The lava beds of the Modocs in which Capt. Jack made his remarkable stand are not worthy to be named in comparison with these [illegible] and crags where the hostile Apaches live. They are not only brave but the most cunning Indians on the American continent, being far superior to the Sioux in intellect. They can't be starved out, as the White mountains abound in game, and the mescal is a nutritious plant, something like the century plant, which they use for food. One squaw can gather enough in a day to last a whole family a year. During Gen. Crook's campaign Pedro was peaceable and was then a man of good character. He will make a dangerous leader. All of the White mountain Indians are probably engaged in the outbreak and there are between 1200 and 1500 warriors among them. It will take a strong force to subdue them, and infantry will be the most serviceable.

Aid.

HEADQUARTERS MILITARY DIVISION OF MISSOURI,
CHICAGO, Sept. 6, 1881.

Gen. McDowell, U. S. A., Presidio, San Francisco: A dispatch received at 9 P. M. from Gen. Pope at Santa Fe says: "Bradley moves out from Wingate with one infantry and two cavalry companies towards Apache to relieve the post. I am sending infantry as fast as possible to Wingate for Bradley. Mackenzie is en route, having marched this morning from Uncompahgre for Gunnison, eighty miles, where he will take the cars for this place, fully equipped for the field. Two companies of cavalry re-marched to-day from Cummings to Bayard, where there are two companies now, and the whole force will move toward Apache. If the news continues bad neither time nor troops will be spared. I have been working the wires hard since my last dispatch to you to get news about the condition of one road to Apache, but have entirely failed thus far."

Description of the "Walla Walla."

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Another new iron steamship, built for the Oregon Improvement Co. by John Roach at Chester, Pa., arrived at a pier in Brooklyn yesterday. She is named the Walla Walla, and will start in a few days for Portland, Oregon, with a cargo of railway material for the O. R. & N. Co. The new steamer has seven water tight compartments. She is 316 feet long and 40½ feet across beam and her displacement capacity 800 tons. Both her decks are of iron, the upper one being three-fourths of an inch thick and covered with wood. Her deck houses are of iron and the main deck is guarded by high iron bulwarks which run the entire length of the vessel. Her engines are compound and of the very best make. Her saloon, which will accommodate thirty first-class passengers, is aft on the upper and lower decks. Entrances to it are on either side of the after deck house. The staterooms and dining saloon are well fitted up. The main deckhouse is covered by a hurricane deck, at the forward end of which is the pilot house. The captain's rooms are just aft of the latter, and above them is the officers' bridge. The galley, officers' quarters, &c., are in the main deckhouse forward of the engines. The forecastle is at the forward end of the ship under the topgallant forecastle. Two large life boats hang in davits over the hurricane deck. The Walla Walla is pierced with four large hatches, each of which has a large iron covering and is supplied with a patent steam winch. The model of the new vessel is a graceful one. Her bows are sharp and she has an overhanging stern. She is schooner-rigged with a square sail on her foremast. She resembles the Umatilla of the same line, which started for the Pacific coast during the past summer. The Walla Walla will ply regularly between San Francisco and Seattle. She will carry coal from the latter port, and will go back in water ballast, for which she has large tanks in her hold. She is the third steamer of this description which has been built for the Oregon Improvement Company. Her commander is Captain De Wolfe.

Railroad Accident.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Sept. 6.—A special dispatch to the Nonpareil from Shenandoah, Iowa, gives the following particulars of a terrible accident which occurred near that place this afternoon. Passenger train No. 21, north bound, on the Wabash road this afternoon was ditched five miles west of this place about 2 o'clock. Nineteen persons were more or less injured and one named Thomas O'Leary, was killed outright. Two or three others will probably die. The train, except the engine, tumbled down an embankment about fifteen feet high. The cause of the accident is not known.

Policemen to Blame for the Riot.

DUBLIN, Sept. 6.—No political importance whatever is attached to the deplorable occurrence at Limerick last night. The attack on the police was made by a gang of roughs who have been waiting for some time for a favorable opportunity to revenge themselves on the force. Unfortunately the men who were wounded the most severely, as [illegible] O'Keefe, a railway porter, who is not expected to recover, were not concerned in the attack. The police are condemned for their hasty action in firing on the people. It is alleged that had they returned to their barracks after clearing the mob out of the railway station the affray would not have assumed such serious proportions. Unfortunately the superior officers were either absent from the city or [illegible] at the land meeting at Silver Mines. When the mayor of Limerick heard of the occurrence in the evening he hastened to the police barracks and was just in time to prevent a party of police who were provided with twenty rounds of ammunition per man from proceeding into the streets and retaliating on the mob for the ill treatment they had received.

Accounts received to-night say that the number of wounded has been very much exaggerated, only some twelve people being injured with buckshot and one with a bayonet. Three are seriously wounded and one constable was seriously injured. The shooting was precipitated by some hot-headed young policemen, who acted in disobedience to orders of the head constable in command. The town is still in an excited state. A later telegram from Limerick says it is apprehended that a renewal of the riot will take place to-night. The city is in a state of great excitement and feeling against the military is exceedingly bitter. The clergy are doing all they can to restore quiet. Upwards of twenty persons have been seriously injured [illegible]. The bayonet was freely used as well as the pistol.

PARIS, Aug. 6.—Final returns of second ballots for members of the chamber of deputies shows 56 republicans, 5 royalists and 2 Bonapartists have been elected. The republicans gained 10 seats, 7 from Bonapartists and 3 from royalists. Republican loss is 2. The new chamber without counting colonial deputies, will comprise 457 republicans, 47 Bonapartists and 41 monarchists. The republicans comprise 20 left centre, 118 left, 20 republican union and 46 extreme left. Among the notable features of the second ballots are Revillon, "intransigeant," polling 5297 votes in Belleville against 3509 for [illegible], and Lane, republican union, in 8th arrondissement, polling 3402 against Ferry, radical, 1551.

BERLIN, Sept. 6.—Serious anti-Jewish riots occurred at Stolp, Pomerania, Sunday. The rioters threatened to storm Jewish houses and pelted the police who charged the mob, wounding 16 persons, several seriously.

An Unpleasant Leave Taking.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 6.—Count Baranoff has just taken leave of the emperor. The interview was very short and the reverse of cordial. All that the ex-prefect of police got an opportunity of saying was this: "I think it my duty as a patriot and faithful subject of your majesty to warn you that a great movement will be made by nihilists in two or three months." The emperor curtly replied: "Your successor, M. Kosloff, has energy and wit enough to triumph over them," and turned his back on his visitor.

The Nihilistic Journal.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 6.—Two fresh numbers of the nihilist journal Will of the People, dated Aug. 3 and 14, have appeared in the form of supplements, promising publication of a full number at the beginning of September. The numbers issued contain various warnings to spies of their faith, a list of donations to the revolutionary fund amounting to 5800 roubles, a list of 400 nihilists arrested since November, and articles condemning the czar's policy and threatening the enemy a final blow.

Not the work of Socialists.

Accounts from the interior of Russia show the anti-Jewish disorder not to have been the work of socialists.

Small Fight.

TUNIS, Sept. 6.—Two hundred armed Arabs leaving Tunis passed near the French camp one mile from this city. The French fired upon the natives killing 10 and wounding 20. The Arabs allege they only carried arms to resist robbers.

The Bey's Duplicity.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC.

[illegible] East and West.

[illegible]

[illegible] the party first saw the graders at work near the mouth of the Little Missouri, about forty miles west of Miles City and Fort Keogh, and from there into Glendive, a distance of [illegible] miles, the survey parties were working the whole time. Track is laid seventeen miles west of Glendive, and the cars will run to Miles City before winter sets in. At Glendive the party were met by the special train that took them to Glyndon, thence to Winnipeg, and lastly to Duluth and [illegible]

SUPERIOR CITY.

At this point the Northern Pacific company has not built docks as yet. Its action will depend on what the people will do. The company want the property owners, most of whom are non-residents, to sell lots and give a chance for population to come in. So far the same old story, so familiar for the last twenty-seven years, is repeated in Superior City, and is being told over again. The city of Duluth was founded because the property owners of Superior City would allow neither railroads, people nor business men to get a foothold there. Twice they had the opportunity of securing railroad connections. In at least one instance they actually opposed a railroad company, and, in going to the courts, succeeded in preventing its entrance into the city. Last winter a few men, who have stood by Superior City through good and evil report, made an arrangement by which a considerable portion of the property of the city was donated to the Northern Pacific, conditional on building into the town in 1881. The company has been endeavoring to comply with that part of the contract. Many persons have endeavored to buy property there to enter into business and to make homes on account of the expected arrival of the railroad. But owners, so far, have absolutely refused to sell at any price or even name a price. There is a constant inquiry to-day, and a constant loss of [illegible] refusal of owners to sell lots. A large coal company, who desired to establish a coal depot at Superior, were unable to buy ground and were forced to go to [illegible] in Duluth, where, in a city of less than [illegible] people they were able to purchase [illegible] less money than in Superior, with its present limit [illegible]. It is difficult to see how it can improve, if the present policy is persisted in. [illegible]

The Canadian Pacific.

The line of this road from Winnipeg, Manitoba, to Portage la Prairie is now all under contract. The company has decided to build extensive shops at Hochelaga, near Montreal, and to build all the equipment for the road there. The company has arranged with a syndicate of Montreal and New York bankers to take $10,000,000 of the 5 per cent. land grant bonds at 92½. They will be placed on the market about October.

The Rail Market.

[Railway Gazette.]

Steel rails are still very active, and it is almost impossible to place orders for this year. Quotations vary somewhat; one order for 10,000 tons is said to have been placed at $55, but prices generally given are $56 to $58 per ton at mill for next spring, and $60 to 62 50 for present delivery. Sales of English rails are reported at $61 50 to $65, delivered at New Orleans and Galveston.

Death in the Lager Beer Glass.

[New York Herald.]

Our lager beer makers use glucose. In some of the neighborhoods where it is manufactured the twigs of trees wither and the people have sore throats. The sulphuric acid (oil of vitriol) used destroys pipes, machinery and even buildings. The oil of vitriol is found in the glucose also lime, copperas, tin and lead.

The engagement is announced, at New York, of Miss Bessie Morgan, daughter of Mr. Edward Morgan, and granddaughter of the late Matthew Morgan, to Mr. August Belmont, Jr.

TUBULAR FOUNTAIN FENCE

FOR CEMETERY LOTS.

The cut represents a single grave enclosed. The fence is constructed of tubular pipes; when filled with water serves not only as a fence, but vases are attached in which flowers, plants and vines may be placed. These are supplied with a constant moisture caused by the evaporation of water from the pipes through the vases. By once filling the fountain plants grow luxuriantly for months without further attention. Nothing so handsome, appropriate for the living than to adorn and beautify the graves of departed loved ones. The fence is made in any size and supplied with granite or marble tablets, for the carving of the inscription for the dead. This Company is among the oldest and strongest companies in the world. Its organization dates back to 1824. Of the ninety-five companies doing business on this coast and the 169 reporting to the New York insurance department in point of paid up capital it ranks No. 9, while in point of assets it ranks No. 6. Adding its subscribed capital, subject to call, amounting to over $20,000,000, which, under the stringent laws of Great Britain governing unpaid capital, as fully illustrated in the failure of the Glasgow Bank, is available to the last dollar for its liabilities, it stands at the head of all the companies doing business in America, making in all, in actual resources, $33,717,000, and every policy issued pledges on its face and in its contract bonds its actual fire assets, every dollar of its authorized and subscribed capital of $30,000,000 to the payment of its fire losses.

The Daily Oregonian

...in particular exhibits a surprising activity. Texas continues to receive enormous accessions to her population and it is believed that within a few years her products will equal in value those of the entire south in the times before the war. In Georgia an industrial development is reported which seems to be as rapid as that of any other state of the union. New cotton mills and other factories are being established in large numbers, and money is being applied to business enterprises in all directions with a liberality that shows a comprehension of the conditions necessary to success. And in general, throughout a section hitherto known for inertia and thriftlessness as compared with the active industrial life of the northern states, there is reported an increasing attention to productive pursuits.

This manifestation of a new energy is significant. It indicates that the people of the south are turning from the pursuit of politics as a profession, a pursuit which has hitherto brought them to ruin, and are giving their attention to the activities of industry and commerce, and to the various problems of a new development. Except as they were spoiled by politics, the people of the south were always a moral and generous people. In many of their social traits they have ever been worthy of all praise. It is only political passion that has ever made them in any sense narrow and intolerant. It was the peculiarity of their political situation that withdrew their energies from the problems of their own well-being, and brought a paralysis upon the industrial life of a whole people. But since the war was fought a new generation has grown up which, though in some degree affected by the old sentiment, nevertheless has not been contaminated by the presence of slavery. The feeling of sullenness or resentment over defeat is passing away. In a few years more not a vestige of it will be left. The sense of injury has worn or is wearing off, and a better spirit prevails. While the south remained moody and spiteful, driving northern men from its borders, bull-dozing its colored population and raiding the polls, the north was going rapidly ahead as before, increasing its industries and adding to its wealth. The shrewder minds of the south have seen that this was to their section a losing game, and for some years they have been instant in calling their fellow southerners to reason. It seems now that better counsels are beginning to prevail, and the southern people are engaging in a generous rivalry with those of the north, in which both can participate in good humor and both can win. Political defeat is proving the salvation of the south.

DESTINATION OF IMMIGRANTS.

The distribution of foreign immigration, as the Railroad Gazette justly says, is a subject which deserves more attention than it receives, since the destination of immigrants after their arrival at our ports is to a considerable extent an index to the demand for labor and the rate at which the different parts of the country are being developed. The census returns present information which show very definitely the course of the immigration to various parts of the country, as these returns give the number and nativity of foreign born persons resident in each state and territory at the time the census was taken. Of course the distribution of the immigration varies somewhat from time to time, but it does not change suddenly and greatly; for most immigrants have their course directed by friends or neighbors who have preceded them, and who are perfectly willing themselves to make a second migration from the place where they first settled to another where the prospects for profitable employment are better. Hitherto nearly all the foreign immigration has been to northern states; and in spite of what has been said recently, there has as yet been very little diversion of it to the south or southwest. How small immigration to the south has been may be seen by the fact that when the last census was taken there were but 124,000 foreign-born residents of Texas, and Texas had about as many as all the other southern states put together south of Virginia and Kentucky; and yet the single new state of Nebraska alone had 124,000 foreigners; Kansas nearly the same number; Minnesota 407,000; California 442,000, and New York 1,500,000. Arkansas had but 10,100, which is about the number in Alabama, Georgia, Florida and Mississippi, while even Virginia had but 14,800. The statistics seem to show that the greater number of immigrants go to states in which there is manufacturing, and they appear also to show that farming engages only a relatively small number. In all the agricultural states west of the Mississippi there were on the 1st of June, 1880, but 1,531,200 foreigners, though the immigration of the previous year was 457,000 and for the ten years previous it was 2,812,000. The largest proportion of foreign agricultural population is in Minnesota and Dakota, where most of the inhabitants were born abroad. But Kansas, which ... [illegible] ... Iowa ... and Nebraska ... During the last year the distribution of the immigrants has been affected greatly by the demand for new railroad ... men employed at ... "settled" anywhere.

EXPORTS AND ...

[illegible]

...of independence. A specially gratifying feature ... which all our people are justly proud and entirely devoid of disagreeable sectional animosities. There is some truth in the observation of an English journal that many of the historic battle-fields of the republic are commemorated with too keen an exultation or too passionate a regret; but the crowning victory which virtually closed our struggle for independence was one in which northern and southern men stood side by side fighting the same enemy and with the same end in view. The courtesies extended to the French and German guests will afford pleasure to many of our foreign-born citizens, and there are good reasons for hoping that the celebration will be conducted in a highly creditable manner.

How gravely the swelling of the parotid gland has affected the president, already suffering with a terrible wound, may be imagined by any one who has an idea of the distress produced by a carbuncle covering an area of five by three and a half inches, with the intense inflammation attending the development of purulent matter, and with long-continued suppuration from large interstices in all parts of it. Upon a person not suffering from any other cause such a swelling, with its attending consequences, would produce intense distress, great weakness, and perhaps symptoms of an alarming character. How the president, in his weak condition, and suffering from a wound of greatest gravity, has survived so long, is almost a mystery.

A letter from Panama says there is no hope whatever that any real work in the way of making excavations for the alleged canal will be done before the 1st of January, next. That will be just one year from the time when De Lesseps pretended that he began operations. His promise to the dupes who took his stock was that the canal would be finished and in operation within four years from last January. These foolish people perhaps may estimate now the probability of the fulfillment of the promise when one year has passed without a spade being thrust into the ground.

The suggestion has often been made that the true and proper way to settle the Indian question was to take friendly Indians into the military service and employ them in fighting the hostiles. But Gen. Carr has had unfavorable experience with this sort of thing. His Indian scouts deserted him and were the first to attack his troops. The Indian is a rather too capricious an individual to trust with a gun.

The Atlantic and Pacific railroad is the western extension of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe. It is to strike the coast in the vicinity of Santa Cruz, and run north to San Francisco. At this time 280 miles of this road are in operation west of the Rio Grande. It is said that within two years it will be completed to San Francisco. Probably it will absorb the Southern Pacific coast railroad.

A journal of financial authority at New York says there have been issued and placed in the market since the 1st of January, 1881, new bonds and stocks to the amount of $671,930,100 for railroad business alone. There is dynamite under these figures that soon or late will blow many of the schemes which they represent to the moon.

A curious result of persecution of the Jews in Russia is noted. The successful harvesting of Russian crops is said to be impeded by peculiar obstacles that have grown out of the persecution of the Jews, and made it difficult to procure the money needed for gathering and forwarding grain.

All classes and bodies now hold "conventions." One of the latest things of the kind is a convention of deaf and dumb people, held at Harrisburg, Pa. It lasted three days. The governor of the state was present and made them a speech on his fingers.

The successful removal of the president to Long Branch, which was effected yesterday, indicates pretty plainly that the same could have been done several weeks ago. None can doubt that earlier removal would have been a great boon to the sufferer.

The distance from Washington city to Long Branch is about 245 miles. The train conveying the president and his attendants made the run in seven hours, which is good, though very ordinary railway speed.

New York Boot and Shoe House,

NO. 193 FIRST STREET.

PORTLAND, AUGUST 24, 1881.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I take great pleasure in informing you that I have opened the premises No. 193 First street (lately occupied by Mooney & Valentine) with an Extensive and Assorted Stock of BOOTS and SHOES, which I have had manufactured under my personal supervision by the best Eastern and California manufacturers. I purchase my goods only from first hands, thereby saving intermediate profits, and which insures all goods to be manufactured as desired, at the same time being a material saving to purchasers and a warrantee that they are buying goods of a superior make.

In entering this, our new field of enterprise, we are actuated by the three principles of a strictly legitimate business firm, it being our effort to remedy the evil effects of unreliable establishments and to guarantee the public

FAIR TREATMENT AND FULL VALUE

Of their investment. As I am a practical manufacturer myself, possessing a thorough knowledge of the business, there cannot be the remotest doubt regarding my ability to give satisfaction.

Respectfully inviting a call, I remain, Very Respectfully Yours,

H. GALLICK.

The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, SEPT. 7

[illegible]

A Cowardly Assault.—Capt. [illegible] Pope, of this city, was, on Friday evening, most brutally assaulted at Astoria in front of Capt. Geo. Flavel's office by MacCabe, a partner of J. A. Brown, stevedore of this place. It happened under the following circumstances: MacCabe went to the office of Capt. Flavel, where Capt. Pope was transacting some business with Capt. Allen, of the Countess of Rothes, and requested to speak to Capt. Pope. The unsuspecting man had hardly stepped off the door sill when MacCabe struck him a powerful blow on the left side of the face, at the same time inflicting a cut with something in or on his left hand, on his right temple, knocking him almost senseless.

Fire.—An alarm was sounded a few minutes before ten o'clock last night from box 9, the occasion being the burning of a small frame dwelling, north west corner of Ninth and C. The blaze gave the appearance of a large fire, and many thought Nelson's brewery or rope works were burning; hence a great crowd collected. The utility and economy of horses for long runs was never better demonstrated. One's and Three's had streams on the building within five minutes after the first tap was given. The building was owned by the Dement heirs of Oregon City, and was unoccupied. Loss about $400; uninsured. The fire was probably of incendiary origin.

Big Trotting Race.—Three great trotting stallions will be brought together at City View driving park next Saturday. The proprietor, Mr. Phil Martin has offered a purse of $350, and the celebrated horses Dexter, Milton Medium and Inauguration will compete for it. Sporting men ever since the July meeting have been over-anxious for a match between the first two named, and with the addition of Inauguration, an interesting performance is promised. It is probable that Kisber, also, will be added to the list of entries. The admission fee is $1; ladies free. Boats will leave at 12:30 and 1:30 P. M. Pools will be sold Friday evening at Prael's.

Samples of Vegetables.—A correspondent writing from The Dalles under date of Sept. 4 says: "A gentleman who arrived here to-day from Yakima, brought with him several samples of vegetables raised in that section, which were left on exhibition at the Umatilla house. Embraced in the collection is one beet weighing 29 pounds, which is said to be only two-thirds grown. Several onions and potatoes sustain the same mammoth proportions. Crops of all kinds are said to be exceedingly large throughout that county this season, while the acreage in cultivation is nearly double that of any previous year."

Outrageous.—The Telegram says on Saturday evening at about 9:30 o'clock two highly respectable young ladies, on their way up L street, East Portland, were stopped, insulted and assaulted by some young men of the town. The ladies fled to the office of Dr. Coley for protection, being followed all the way to the door by the hoods who had insulted them. Two young men were arrested on suspicion by the city marshal, and for a short time confined in the city jail, but as the ladies were unable to identify them, they were released.

Officers Elected.—Following are the officers of the new lodge of Knights of Honor: Dictator, H. H. Whitten; vice dictator, F. B. Wilcox; assistant dictator, O. C. Ottmann; reporter, H. H. Dean; financial reporter, W. S. Stevens; treasurer, Louis Steil; chaplain, Geo. H. Himes; guide, N. S. Daniel; guardian, A. B. Manning; sentinel, J. E. Boynton; past dictator, Richard Scully; medical examiners, Drs. W. H. Saylor and L. F. Brazer.

Beautifying and Macadamizing.—A large force of men is engaged at the new cemetery south of the city, and the work is being crowded forward as rapidly as circumstances will allow. A stone crusher is in constant operation near the cemetery and the principal drives are being substantially macadamized. Before the fall rains set in it is expected that the new cemetery will be far advanced toward completion.

Order of Chosen Friends.—The officers and members of Willamette Council No. 1, Order of Chosen Friends, will attend the lecture at Odd Fellows' Hall, East Portland, this evening, and assist in the organization of the new council. The lecture will commence at 7:30 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Jack Powers Indicted.—Yesterday afternoon the grand jury in the state circuit court had the case of Jack Powers charged with the killing of Ben Corcoran, under investigation. The jury, after examining the testimony in the case, returned a true bill, charging him with murder in the first degree.

Committed Suicide.—A German woman, whose name could not be ascertained, living on a Mr. Hall's place near Hillsboro, Washington county, committed suicide on Monday by taking a dose of strychnine. She lived only a short time, dying in great agony. Domestic trouble is said to have prompted the rash and awful deed.

Incorporated.—Articles of incorporation have been filed with the county clerk of the East Portland Water Company. Capital stock, $30,000; incorporators, Geo. E. Nottage, Holly D. McGuire and John Davis; duration, perpetual.

Leave of Absence.—Leave of absence for ten days, to take effect at such time as he may desire and can be spared from his duties, has been granted 2d Lieut. William C. Brown, 1st cavalry. (Fort Klamath, Or.)

Common Council.—This evening a regular meeting of the common council will be held at the chamber. There will be business of importance to transact, and every member of the body is expected to be in attendance.

Steamer Arrived.—The steamship Oregon arrived at this port last evening at 5 o'clock, from San Francisco. She brought a large number of passengers, a full freight, and the mails.

Oswego Iron Works.—The old stack at the Oswego Iron Works is being torn down preparatory to receiving the new hot blast. Operations will be resumed about the 15th of October.

Patent Issued.—Mr. W. C. Doherty of Albany, has been allowed a patent on a new kind of fruit drier.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

By close attention to business, courtesy and honest dealing, the firm of Cardwell & Hazzett has gained a large share of public patronage. These young gentlemen have on hand a large and splendid assortment of boots and shoes at their store, corner of Third and Morrison streets. They keep only the very best stock. Ladies and gentlemen will find it to their advantage to call within the next ten days.

AUCTION SALES.

L. B. Richardson will hold his regular [illegible] sale today at 10 o'clock [illegible]

A CARD.

Mr. P. Johnson, of the firm of Sanders & Johnson, Tailors, 3 New Montgomery street, San Francisco, Grand Hotel, late with Bullock & Jones, is staying at the Esmond House, where he would be glad to see and show to his old friends and patrons a line of samples such as has never been shown on the coast before, which have been selected personally by Mr. C. T. Sanders.

PRAYERS FOR THE PRESIDENT.

Large Meeting at Taylor-street M. E. Church—Prayers by Several Divines—Services at Y. M. C. A. Hall.

[illegible]

After another prayer the following was sung:

Thine arm, O Lord, in days of old,
Was strong to heal and save;
It triumphed o'er disease and death,
O'er darkness and the grave.
To Thee they went, the blind, the dumb,
The palsied and the lame,
The leper with his tainted life,
The sick with fevered frame.

And lo! Thy touch brought life and health,
Gave speech, and strength, and sight;
And youth renewed and frenzy calmed,
Owned Thee the Lord of light.
And now, O Lord, be near to bless,
Almighty as of yore,
In crowded street, by restless couch,
As by Gennesareth's shore.

Many short and fervent prayers were offered by lay Christians in different parts of the house, the burden of which was the same—the restoration of the president, the comforts of grace for the family and God's blessing for the nation. The hymn, "O Wondrous Power of Faithful Prayer," was sung, and also others of a peculiarly appropriate character. The prayers were offered and the hymns sung with much pathos and feeling and many were affected to tears.

Rev. G. W. Izer made the concluding remarks in a very subdued voice and with much feeling. He said no one outside the councils of God in heaven can say that the life of President Garfield will be spared, but when the speaker thought of the thousands and tens of thousands who had been praying for this precious life, when he thought of the fact that a nation is to-day on its knees before God, he thought if the Great Ruler can consistently spare the life of our chief magistrate He will do so. But He knows best and should it be otherwise, He will send somewhere and somehow the very blessing which this nation most needs and which will be for our highest good and there will be the very blessings come to the people which this sorrow and humiliation so well prepares us to receive. Mr. Izer explained that Dr. Lindsley's absence was caused by imperative duties elsewhere. He also regretted that circumstances had not afforded a more timely notice of this meeting, so that many merchants and others could have arranged to be present on this occasion. As it was, he perceived that many were present at considerable sacrifice.

The hymn, "God bless our native land! firm may she ever stand through storm and night," was sung as a closing song, and the audience was dismissed with the benediction by A. Snashall.

AT THE Y. M. C. A.

The regular noon prayer meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was set apart for exercises appropriate to the observance of the day of prayer for the recovery of the president. Mr. L. M. Parrish conducted the exercises, and read as appropriate texts of scripture Matthew, 7th chapter, 7th verse; 21st chapter, 22d verse; Mark, 11th chapter, 24th verse; James, 5th chapter, 15th verse, and I. John, 5th chapter, 14th verse. His remarks were brief and to the point, and the meeting was mainly one of prayer for the recovery of the president and for the comfort of his family. Many were deeply moved by the solemnity of the occasion.

BRIEF NOTES.

Odd Fellows' [illegible] evening.

Council this evening.

Attention is called to new ads.

The Countess of Rothes is lying near the foot of Jefferson street.

Letters for Dry Goods, R. N., C. L., A. W., P. O., N., at this office.

Mr. Sheridan will assume the role of the "Tawny Christian" this evening.

The City of Chester will sail for this port from San Francisco to-morrow.

A burning flue on the north side of Yamhill street, between First and Second, called out the fire department yesterday afternoon.

PERSONAL.

Gen. J. W. Sprague is at the Clarendon.

Mr. Frank Dayton has returned from Victoria.

Mr. Donald Macleay returned last night from a trip to San Francisco.

E. O. Suitor and E. W. Whipple, merchants of Gervais and Cottage Grove respectively, are in the city.

Messrs. Saml. E. Young and L. E. Blain, merchants of Albany, came up on the Oregon and return home to-day.

Mr. R. D. Chandler, proprietor of the Carbon Hill coal mines, and Mr. Geo. Crocker of San Francisco, arrived by the Oregon and leave for Carbonado, W. T. this morning.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Othello" To-night.—Mr. Sheridan and company will return from Salem this morning. To-night "Othello" will be presented at New Market. To-morrow evening "Hamlet." This will positively be Mr. Sheridan's last appearance in tragedy in this city.

EAST OF THE MOUNTAINS.

An Account of Agricultural and Industrial Progress—A Great and Growing Country.

[illegible] the sage lands which were considered the barrenness of desolation can be made to blossom as the rose. [illegible] this farm in "the sage brush tract," from which some of the finest peaches ever seen have been received at THE OREGONIAN's office, will yield a great variety of fruits, besides all kinds of vegetables; but the bulk of this tract produced a yield in wheat and barley which would put to effort the best producing grain lands of the Willamette valley to exceed. The docker is the modern Colossus of wheat growers, and enjoys the proud distinction of being the largest producer per acre in the world—100 acres of his 2400 acre hillside farm having yielded in excess of 30,000 bushels of wheat the present season.

The wheat yield of this year, which is now fully two-thirds garnered, will aggregate 120,000 tons for shipment, divided about as follows, each point named being inclusive of its vicinity: Walla Walla, 30,000 tons; Weston and Milton, 24,000 tons; Columbia river, below Wallula, 15,000 tons, inclusive of Pendleton districts; Waitsburg, 8000 tons; Dayton, 15,000 tons; Snake river from Lewiston down, 15,000 tons, and 10,000 tons from the Northern Pacific railroad, the Yakima country and other fragmentary districts not otherwise included.

There is sufficient arable land in the country in review to raise 50,000,000 bushels annually under the rotation crop system prevailing, even if the yield does not exceed fifteen bushels per acre, and it is as certain as manifest destiny that before many years the Columbia river will be called upon to transport to the sea this vast food supply to the markets of foreign lands. It but remains for us here in Portland to prepare for this, and not to mistake the signs which so faithfully indicate it. To Mr. Villard and his associates belongs the credit of making possible the grandeur of our ultimate destiny many years in advance of what could reasonably have been hoped for, and Eastern Oregon and Washington territory owe them a debt of gratitude it will take many years to requite, especially as a generous freight tariff has supplemented Mr. Villard's other beneficent acts.

Leader.—So far the Weston library association is a success. For the present the books are kept at the residence of Mr. Pauly, whose estimable lady is the accommodating librarian. The character of the books already taken out is an index of the good taste for reading which exists among our people. The trustees have ordered half a dozen of the best periodicals, which will greatly add to the interest of the collection.

Weston Leader: A year ago last spring, J. C. Whiteman, who lives at the head of Gerkin flat, Umatilla, planted about 1000 peach seeds. They came up nicely and this year are doing well. The trees on an average are four feet high, having a diameter at the ground of five-eighths of an inch. Nearly every one in that section of country has a young orchard, and they all seem to be in a very flourishing condition.

The crops of all kinds in Grass valley, Wasco county, are reported excellent. Specimens of wheat 5 feet 2 inches long, oats 7 feet, barley 4 feet 6 inches, and rye 6 feet, are shown. The oats and wheat are the first crop on bunch grass land, the barley and rye are the second crop. The grain has all been raised without irrigation. The wheat was so close that a hat thrown on the tops would stop there and not fall to the ground. From one grain of wheat as many as 35 stalks have grown, and from one of rye 110 stalks. The barley was not counted. The ground is so high that beans, tomatoes and corn cannot be raised. Corn is not a profitable crop, but some can be raised for home use. Potatoes are large and of the finest quality. Turnips and other root crops yield abundantly. Grass Valley is about 60 miles from The Dalles.

The Yakima Record has entered its third volume.

Wheat is literally pouring into the O. R. & N. Co.'s depot at Walla Walla.

Threshing commenced on the Skagit flats on last Monday, 29th of August. The grain is in fine order.

The steamer Chehalis, a few days ago, found the same snag in the Skagit that sunk her last spring, and again quietly settled to her guards in the water.

W. W. Davis of Walla Walla, well-known in connection with his "kingdom of heaven" scheme near that place, was lately married to Miss Cornelia Perkins.

Forty or fifty claims have been taken up in the new silver mines on Orcas island. Thorough tests will be made of the rock, and it is believed that it will pay handsomely to work it.

Two Yakima log drivers were robbed last week of their watches and $130 in coin which they had left in a valise in camp while attending to their day's work a short distance away. There is no clue to the thief.

It is calculated that there will be between 15,000 and 20,000 tons of wheat shipped from the Blue Mountain station this season, there being [illegible] 5000 tons more than the company could ship even this early in the season.

Henry Abele, residing near Goldendale, was thrown from his horse last week and dragged by the stirrup several hundred yards, receiving injuries that caused him to be unconscious for a week. Chances are now favorable for his recovery.

Walla Walla Journal: We have reliable information from a correspondent at Lewiston to the effect that the so-called volcano is a hoax. The woods, however, are burning, having been set on fire in all probability by a meteoric explosion. The individual who "had every reason to believe that there is no humbug in the affair," and who was "going to descend into the very bowels of the crater," is now being sadly guyed by the citizens of Lewiston. Although there may be "more worlds to conquer," the fool-killer will probably be around before the aforesaid individual will have an opportunity to get in his work of conquest.

The following description of the new wharf to be built at Seattle is given: The intention is to build an iron pile wharf, on what is called the Cushing pile system, which will practically be a double decked bridge, [illegible] in the middle, on which will be built a large warehouse for the reception of freight. This structure will be [illegible] feet on either side with coal pockets, with a capacity of from 1500 to 2000 tons each. This wharf will be built on the site now occupied by the old [illegible] and will be 850 feet in length and 57 feet wide. It will be capable of handling two of the company's largest steamers at the same time on each side. The Cushing pile is made by driving a cluster of wooden piles of any desired number, and surrounding them with a casing of boiler iron, driven down into the mud below the range of the teredo. The mud, water and slime are then pumped out, and the interior is filled with concrete to a point [illegible] several feet above high water, thus making a solid pier impervious to air or water.

PYEMIA.

[illegible]

[illegible] is to say, appearances in other localities either of a septicemic or an embolic character. Ancient writers have laid much stress upon the salutary effect of the formation of an abscess with laudable pus in the parotis. This is only true in so far as opposed to cases in which the suppuration produces thin, sanious pus. It may be that the suppuration has a certain favorable effect on the body, but it is certain that it is much preferable if it can be avoided, for the inflammation of the parotis is both in the beginning and in the end a disorder which renders the case more complicated.

The dangers of a suppurative inflammation of the parotid gland are very numerous. If it complicates the later stages of other diseases the new disturbance suffices often to lead to the death of the exhausted patients by a renewal or increase of the fever. If the swelling of the surrounding parts be very considerable, the inflammation of the parotis, by impeding the circulation in the numerous veins which lie in contact with it, may give rise to oedema of the temporal region and around the eye, headache, difficult breathing, etc. These phenomena become still more violent if the impediment to circulation is large enough to cause coagulation of the blood in the veins. The clots thus formed become so much more dangerous as they extend far beyond the gland, and later when they soften become the starting point of embolism and infection. In severer cases the surrounding connective tissue is also inflamed, and then the inflammation extends gradually over the neighboring parts, causing abscesses in the muscles, inflammation of the auditory canal, periostitis of the lower jawbone and temporal bone, followed by necrosis. Through the bones the inflammation may extend to the membranes surrounding the brain or attack this organ itself.

Another way in which the inflammation spreads is by following the course of the nerves. The veins are apt to become obstructed, and clots extend down along the side of the neck or into the interior of the cranial cavity. In such cases the inflammation of the parotis may, in its turn, become the starting point of new blood-poisoning and of embolism in the lungs and other organs. The dangers connected with the inflammation of the parotis are partly due to the situation of the organ under a dense fascia of tendinous membrane. This circumstance is also of importance in regard to treatment. If suppuration cannot be avoided it should be hastened and the pus emptied as soon as possible. To attain this end it is often necessary to make deep incisions, the swelling of the superficial parts being so great that pus is reached only at a depth of half an inch.

The Yorktown Monument.

Colonel William P. Craighill, United States engineer, has at present at his office in Baltimore the model of the monument, the corner stone of which is to be laid at Yorktown during the coming celebration. Judging from the model, the monument will be the most completely symbolical structure in the country. It is to be built under the personal supervision of Colonel Craighill. Messrs. R. Hunt and J. Q. A. Ward, of New York, and Henry Van Brunt, of Boston, who were appointed by the secretary of war to prepare a design for the proposed monument, have completed this work and submitted a report. From the architectural point of view, the monument is composed of three principal points. The first is a base, which, with its stylobate and its pediments, is thirty-seven feet high, and occupies an area of thirty-eight feet square upon the ground. The second is a highly sculptured podium, twenty-five and a half feet high and thirteen feet in diameter, in the form of a drum supporting a column. This latter, which is part third, is sixty feet high, and at the base seven and a half feet in diameter. This shaft, for the sake of economy, is composed of a succession of drums or courses of masonry, giving practical reasons for a departure from the conventional treatment which belongs to monolithic shafts. The joints are masked by four bands, decorated with laurel leaves and justified by a decoration of stars symmetrically disposed upon them and breaking the outline of the column. From the symbolic point of view, the monument is intended to convey, in architectural language, the idea set forth in the dedicatory inscription, that by the victory at Yorktown the independence of the United States of America was achieved or brought to final accomplishment.

The four sides of the base contain, first, an inscription dedicating the monument as a memorial of the victory; second, an inscription representing a succinct narrative of the siege, prepared in accordance with the original archives in the department of state; third, the treaty of alliance with the king of England. In the pediments, over these four sides, respectively, are presented, carved in relief, emblems of nationality, of war, of the alliance and of peace. The base is thus devoted to the historical statement. It explains the subsequent incidents of monumental composition, which are intended to appeal solely to the imagination. The immediate result of the historical events written upon the base was the happy establishment of a National Union of thirteen youthful, free and independent states. To celebrate this joyful union the sculptor has represented upon the circular podium which arises from the base a solemn dance of thirteen typical female figures, hand in hand, encircling a drum, which bears upon a belt beneath their feet the words, "One Country, One Constitution, One Destiny." It is a symbol of the birth of freedom. The model will be taken to Yorktown and exhibited during the coming celebration.

Young Men with old Wives.

[Boston Courier.]

It is surprising how rapidly even the great fall [illegible] Carlyle and George Eliot were literary wonders, and they are already dropping from observation. The latter was buried at Highgate, which is already known as the resting place of Coleridge. The fact that her husband, John Walter Cross, was so much younger, twenty years, than herself occasioned much comment. This, however, is not without precedent in literary and social life. [illegible] Mohammed's wife was twenty years older than her husband [illegible] John H. Ward, the philanthropist, [illegible] Napoleon's first wife, Josephine, was his senior by six years [illegible] Aaron Burr also married a widow, who had [illegible] children. Mrs. Burr was ten years older than her husband, but the union was very harmonious. A lady barber of Homer, Ill., has shut up shop to marry a wealthy farmer with whom she scraped an acquaintance, and may be expected to razor quite a number of little shavers to help the world along. She is said to be young, handsome and accomplished, and, in the words of a native of her town, "about as slick a blade as any galoot in the town."

Mrs. Kerr, the widow of ex-Speaker M. C. Kerr, now lives in Louisville, Ky. She was a close friend of Mrs. Garfield, and remembers that Gen. Garfield was superstitious in regard to the length of his life. She says that Mr. Kerr would frequently laugh at his fears and tell him that he would live to be an old man. At this the general would shake his head solemnly and say: "No I won't, Kerr; I tell you I will not live many years."

"Stop this Nasty Fighting."

[Indianapolis Journal.]

A grave charge is made against Gen. Grant's character as a gentleman. The battle of Spottsylvania, or a portion of it, was fought on the farm of Mr. McCool. When it grew hot and deafening all around, the family went into the cellar, and there Miss Millie, sitting by the side of her sick sister, wrote the following note:

Grant, General—Sir:—I desire that you stop this nasty fighting. There is a sick lady in the house.
MILDRED McCOOL.

A badly frightened African succeeded in delivering this note within the union lines, but oddly enough the battle was allowed to continue. "And would you believe it!" Miss Millie was wont to exclaim, in chats with her neighbors many a year thereafter. "And would you really believe it! The Yankee general wasn't gentleman enough to grant a lady's request."

The hop fields of Yakima are located mainly along the banks of the Ahtanum. There is a total of about 89 acres in these fields. The yield this year it is claimed will average 1000 pounds to the acre, giving a total of 110,400 pounds. This is an increase of 8400 pounds over last year. Allowing only 25 cents per pound to be realized, this year's crop will foot up $27,600.

The feeling as to wheat to-day is one among export buyers of indifference, as higher freights are beginning to have their natural effects in lowering values. While $1 56 per cental might have been paid to-day, the undertone is weak, and unless helped by better advices from abroad, a reduction of two or three cents per cental is likely to follow.

New York Freights via the Horn.

New York, Sept. 6.—The freight market via Cape Horn, shows no improvement and remains very quiet. Preparations for a full fall trade are being made, and a number of ships have been taken for lines at this port, the latest being the new ship Iroquois, 2200 tons, now at Bath for Van Vleck's lines. Prospects are that tonnage, suitable for California trade is likely to be very scarce this fall, and lines, in order to take more agricultural implements, large quantities of which will go forward, are providing themselves with vessels ahead. In other branches of the California trade the market is rather quiet.

THE GENUINE

CELEBRATED

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.
